Governor Napolitano and WIFA Chairman Owens Present $35,000 Check to Fawn Brook Wastewater Improvement District and $577,578 Check to Pineview Water Company

PHOENIX – Governor Janet Napolitano and WIFA Chairman Steve Owens presented today a $35,000 check to Fawn Brook Wastewater Improvement District and a $577,578 check to Pineview Water Company at the Navajo County Board of Supervisors meeting in Holbrook.

The legal and technical steps Fawn Brook took to form the district included project management assistance, developing the legal documents to form a DWID, examination of existing facilities, and the creation of a sewer plan that connects the district to the City of Show Low's wastewater treatment facility.

“Forming a Domestic Water Improvement District gives residents the ability to obtain funding from WIFA to help them meet their wastewater infrastructure needs,” said Governor Napolitano. “This is a good step toward ensuring the future of the community.”

Pineview is using the $577,578 to complete a drinking water gravity flow system project. Twelve-inch line was installed and the tank's second ring is being built. One of three wells was recently drilled. The water will serve residents in the south end of Show Low, north end of Lakeside and unincorporated areas of the county.
